

THE ADJ INTERIORS PROCESS

Let's Get to Know Each Other:

Our clients are usually referred to us or have discovered a project we've done that piqued their interest. We get on a phone call to get the scoop on all the important things: what project you have in mind, what your initial design thoughts are, and timeline. Then, we schedule an initial consultation and walk-through.

Walk, Talk, and (Most Importantly) Listen:

Next, we meet in person to tour the space you want to renovate or review your plans if you are remodeling or embarking on a new build. This is when we really get a sense of your style preferences, your favorite elements, spaces you love or hate and why. We will talk about how you need your space to function and feel and what you envision—from dream to details.

Time to Make it Official:

Our team develops a scope of services agreement that details what is involved in your project and fees. Once you sign on the dotted line, our team has already started concepting ideas that will elicit a WOW.

Superheroes, Assemble:

We reach out to the various contractors, vendors, and laborers who will be involved in your project to put our dream team and timeline together, unless we are joining an established team put together by you or your contractor.

Working on Wow

While the dream team is being assembled, our best and brightest designers are hard at work creating unique concepts for your space, based on everything we heard from you. We present design options that include color palettes, fabric options, hardware ideas, and more so you get to choose which ones resonate most with your aesthetic and preferences.

Checklists, Choices, and Weekly Meetings

Once an overall aesthetic has been chosen, we take you through a specific order of selections. We meet weekly to help guide you through the process; this is where your contribution to the team shines!

Final Touches and Photography

This is where ADJ puts the final touches on your space so it is magazine ready. Our photographer comes to take amazing pictures, and you get copies to brag on social media!
